

Creating From the Place of Love

From this place of peace and tranquility we now call upon Shaltazar the Keeper of the Secrets of the Universe, the Gavish Banenu to come forth and share with us the wisdom of the ages.

We are here with you now and forever. Feel Our love, feel it deeply. There is no need to search, to seek or to look beyond yourself for Our love. All you need do is quiet the mind and open the heart. The human race speaks so much of love. And yet, at its deepest sense very few understand it. For love is not something that is to be talked about. Love is not something that is to be analyzed. Love is to be felt and the only way to feel true love, Divine love is to allow yourself to connect to your feeling consciousness. Often it is referred to by humans as “thinking and not feeling.” But that is not absolutely true for you are always feeling. It is part of the design. It is part of the programming.

What happens is that you have not stopped feeling, you have simply disconnected from your feelings. Often that occurs because the mind is busy and scurrying about. The mind is in the past. The mind is in the future. It is the feelings, it is the heart that is in the moment. And so we ask you now to drop the mind. Let it go blank and be here with us in this moment. For in the higher realms there is nothing but the now. We realize the concept of no time and no space is difficult to comprehend in human form, but if you could, in this moment, please indulge us. Simply let go of linear time. In this very moment, this now, there is eternity. Feel it. Open up to it. Any resistance will prevent you from feeling this infinity. And why we ask you to begin by moving to the now is because if you truly wish to understand love, you must be prepared to feel it. Feel it in its purest and most absolute form and to do so all of your mental traffic must stop. All of your mind chatter must be silenced. And then when all is quiet, from the depths of the stillness, you will feel the love of God.

It is gentle. It is kind. It is reassuring. It does not judge, for love is nothing more and nothing less. We hope you begin to understand when you say “I love you,” you may not be comprehending the breadth and depth of the meaning of love. In order to participate fully in love, you must be prepared to feel its depth. Feel its breath. Let go of the protective walls. Be vulnerable. Be open. As we have told you many times, we know you are afraid that more than love will come pouring in, but please once again indulge us. In this moment, please trust us that if you let your guard down, if you let down your protective shields, you will have an opportunity to feel pure love.

In order to get a better sense of pure love, allow your senses to wander. Allow yourself to reflect on the times in your life where you felt the most protected, the most at ease, the most comfortable. The most trusting, the most calm, the most joyous, the most blissful. And as you allow yourself to feel this, there may come a smile to your lips. For love, pure love, divine love is something that is not foreign to you. You have experienced it many times, maybe not so much in human form. But we know, because we know each and every one of you, who you truly are and the roles that you have taken on over the eons. We knew you in the periods of transition between human lifetime expressions, and we know how full of divine love you truly are.

As you incarnated in the human lifetime expression that you are currently in, you were separated from that love. Not as judgment, not as punishment but by your own desires, simply to see if in this human lifetime expression you could find your way back to that love that you truly are. You see, it does not matter if you do, it does not matter if you don't. For it is the journey to find love that is one of the purposes of life. So many of you at this time have gotten off track by seeking knowledge, by analyzing, by thinking, by looking, by trying. How can I find this love? I know they say it is deep within me. But how am I to find it? Where do I look?

Unfortunately, what you do not realize is simply by engaging in mind consciousness you will never find that which you seek. And so we encourage you to get into this place that you are hopefully now in, where the mind is silenced and all is quiet, for that presents an opportunity for you to experience Divine love while in human form. Be with it for a moment and don't be afraid if you disconnect from it. It is available to you whenever you choose, but it must be of your choosing. It is by releasing, letting go and surrendering to the moment that you will find the opportunity to connect to your birthright. So when you catch yourself talking about love, seeking love, wanting love, simply let go, simply stop and come to the "now moment." As the mind is quieted and you connect to your feeling consciousness, we come pouring in rejoicing that you have found love. For us it is a great triumph when any human being on your planet is able to come home to love.

While we may be 'excited' (although that word has no meaning for us) about the possibilities, about the realities of one human being finding and connecting to the love that they truly are, we are not 'disappointed' (again, a word with no meaning for us) when this doesn't happen. Although you may feel disappointment when that love is not connected to, we realize that the journey of life, the journey to find and connect to your love, is one that has gone on for eons, and hopefully will continue to go on for eons to come.

As we remind you that you live on the planet of free choice, the future of your world is in your hands. But we shall say to you that the more of you that take the time, that make the effort, that are successful in connecting to pure love, the greater the chance of existence as you know it continuing. We know as you look around your world and you see the fighting and the strife and the war and the killing and the terrorism it is understandable that you would ask, how can love change our world? Our answer to you is that love is not linear. Love is not logical. Love is more powerful than you could imagine.

Love is the seed of miracles, for when Source created your world and continues to create other worlds, the primary ingredient of that creation is love. You see creation is always occurring. Yes dear ones, friends, brothers, sisters you are creating every moment of every day. The question you may not have asked yourself is, where are you creating from? Are you creating as the great Creator does from a place of love? Or are you creating from fear, trepidation, doubt, worry, insecurity. You see the choice is yours and that is why we say to you it is important to connect with love, not the word, not the abstract concept, but the essence of what love is. For as you learn to connect to it more and more of the time, then what you create will come more from love. Maybe you do not realize that you always have a choice from where you create. You need not create from fear, all you need do is let go of the fear and connect to the love.

One of your great scientists has shown you what a water crystal looks like that is infused with hatred and has shown what a water crystal looks like infused with love. Look around. Look around at creation and you will realize how much of nature has been created from love. Did you ever look deeply in to a rose or into a sunset? When the mind is not distracted and you look into that beauty and grace we know that many of you have experienced a moment to love. And so if you created more from love do you not think that those observing your creations or participating in your creations would not feel that love as well? Is it possible that when you create from fear, those that observe your creations will feel your fear?

And you might ask us, "Why would we create from fear if we know we are having an adverse effect on not only ourselves, but those around us?" Of course the answer is, you do not realize what you're doing. First of all you do not realize that you are always creating, and second of all, you do not realize that how you feel determines what you are creating from. You see, God needed to create the human being and separate it from Itself. Because God only knows how to create from love and It needed to witness what life would be like creating in a place of free choice. In the duality more than love exists, there is light and there is dark. And so we ask you, yes, we even beg you, to become more aware of where you are coming from in your creation. Yes, we know the place you live, the planet Earth, can be a scary place. Life can be challenging, but you have the choice as to the perspective you wish to take on that scariness. If you allow yourself to go more often into the place of divine love, if you try to have your conversations from the place of love, if you learn to stop speaking so loudly and instead move to love, then your world will be a different place.

For the world that you see that is scary and often dark has been created by human beings who have created from that fear, from that hatred, from that darkness, but you can change your world. You can change your world by connecting more of the time to your birthright, to who you truly are. We ask you now to please become more conscious when words come out of your mouth. Become the observer and notice whether those words are coming from the place of love or a place a fear. When a thought comes into your mind, take a moment to reflect. Has that thought come forth from love or has that thought come forth from fear, hatred, and darkness? For as you learn to think, do, say, be, more from the place of love, then the creation that comes forth from each and every human being on your planet will be more like God's creation and that is from a place of love.

We are here for you any time you wish to converse with us. Simply enter in a state of stillness and peace. Open your heart and we come pouring in.
