

What is the Soul?

We are here with you now and forever. Yes, We say We, for you think of Shaltazar in the singular, but that is because of your limited four dimensional thinking. It is so difficult for you to comprehend the difference between the singular and the collective. You try so hard to differentiate. We will explain more at a later time how in the Invisible We do not distinguish between singular and collective. For Us it is always the collective, for We do not comprehend separation as you do. It is only on your planet of Duality that you struggle so much with differentiating between the “individual” and the “collective.” I hope you know it was not meant as a punishment. It was from love that you were separated upon birth into your human body. Of course We have told you and others many times it was so you could find your way back to the whole. But what does that mean. Your human form is separate from the next human form. You are one body, one person—but that does not mean one soul. You think that is the case. It is a natural extension of linear thinking.

What if We told you that your Soul, yes the Soul that you think is yours, is not only your Soul? What if We told you that Souls do not work as one body, one Soul? Even the discussion of one Soul is a concept that is foreign to Us, but since you are not yet capable of understanding the collectiveness of the invisible world—how the oneness of the invisible operates, We will attempt to explain in such a way that you may be able to just grasp the outer edges of this concept.

The Soul is not an individual entity. That is why although you call me Shaltazar, and We are not saying that is not an acceptable identification for Us, We will tell you that Shaltazar, although it appears as a name for one entity, is in no way singular.

This concept may be somewhat disturbing to you and create a certain anxiousness. That just means that We have challenged a belief that may be difficult for you to comprehend. So We ask that you let go of trying to comprehend it, for by doing so We will not be able to bring this very important message to you. Try to let go of your linearity and your logic and simply feel what We are saying.

It is important not to think of a soul in the linear sense like you do people or individuals. The creation of individuals was done for the express purpose of achieving a greater degree of separation on the planet of free choice. Separated from the All with an individual mind and body to see all—and We repeat ALL—the possible ways that this could be handled. How many ways are there for something that is one, upon separation, to respond, to react, to think, and to feel? Of course the answer is infinite and so mankind for eons has had an opportunity to experience this separation as it searches for the One.

What good would it be if only one soul at a time could experience this separation? How would the results of this experience be transferred to the collective? Is there only one giant soul you ask? And We say to you unfortunately there you go again thinking in a linear fashion. It's not your fault. It's part of your programming.

At this time let Us just leave it as the fact that one person does not have one soul. It will take a higher level of consciousness to comprehend more than that for now.

You see if you move to a place of trying to figure out what We are saying to you, then you will lose your ability to truly comprehend at the deepest level. It is important to merely feel our message and allow your mind in its limited ability to transcribe and translate it. Leave the figuring out of this concept for another time. Stay open. Stay clear and We will be able to continue to speak our messages to you, so you will understand them on a particular level.

Take a moment to just feel this concept that your soul is not just yours. Your soul is part of a collective and it does not live with you, so to speak. Your soul does not inhabit your body. Your body inhabits your soul. And many other bodies inhabit the same soul. Now We know you may begin to go linear on Us and want to know how many souls there are.

Again We ask you with love to please not go there. Be content with what We have revealed today and simply leave it at that.
